ABOUT THE PROJECT

HIRER - Increasing the digital competencies of HR management trainers through Minecraft Escape Rooms - is a 13-month project that aims to boost HR managers, trainers, and VET trainers' soft skills (e-leadership, HRM) and digital competencies. This will empower them to navigate the digital shift, manage hybrid/virtual teams, and enhance competitiveness in the market.

WHAT IS HAPPENING IN THE PROJECT?

- Here at HIRER, we're currently in the process of translating and finalising our Minecraft worlds! The game supports and promotes the universal use of Game-Based Learning in training as a novel method to deliver digital education content and an innovative learning approach.
- For example. The first level in the Minecraft game will be about managing your team, but specifically, it's all about e-Leadership. E-Leadership and communication with a hybrid or remote team does not simply translate from usual leadership skills. Methods of reaching out and goal setting all have to change in the remote work environment.
- Stay tuned as we'll soon be implementing our info days in Cyprus, Germany and the Czech Republic with relevant stakeholders.

TARGET GROUPS:

- HR managers/leaders/professionals
- VET trainers that organize training for HRM.

UPCOMING RESULTS

- Stay tuned for the development of our online community. With this, we will facilitate the formulation of a wider network and community of stakeholders, project practitioners and interested parties that will embrace the HIRER initiative with a view to engage with external and associate partners and thus increase the impact of the project
